Menace German East Prussia On Long Front

Advance 28 Miles In Furious Drive

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, Tuesday, July 11 (AP)—Russian troops poured into Lithuania and increased their menace to German East Prussia yesterday by a powerful thrust through the 100-mile front between Wilno and Daugavpils, Moscow announced, while to the south other Soviet forces forged closer to the big Polish cities of Brest-Litovsk and Bialystok.

The early morning supplement to the Russian communiqué reported a general surge forward all along the jagged battle line from the Latvian border to the middle of the Pripjat marshes, and said the Germans were suffering "tremendous losses."

During the day Red troops smashed twenty-eight miles northward across the highway between Kaunas, former capital of the Lithuanian republic, and Daugavpils, in southern Latvia, probing within 120 miles of the Baltic seaport of Riga.

Slonim, big communications center twenty-eight miles west of Bialystok, was captured along with Lunin, an important railway junction of the Pripjat area, thirty miles east of Pinsk on the rail route to Brest-Litovsk.

Wilno (Vilna) was completely encircled and Moscow said Soviet troops were wiping out German forces left in the center of the city. Even as this bloody hand-to-hand fighting continued, other Soviet units by-passed the ancient city and moved on, capturing the rail junction of Landwaron, ten miles west.

The relentless Russian drive was reported in British dispatches to have reached within sixty miles of East Prussia.

Meanwhile the mopping up of German remnants left to the rear of the battlefront sped westward (continued and Moscow said 2,000 were killed and 3,500 captured yesterday in the area east of Minsk).

Premier Stalin personally announced the capture of Luniniec, "Luninets" and Slonim in the special order of the day issued a few hours after the Germans themselves had announced the evacuation of Luniniec, a strategically important railway junction thirty miles east of Pinsk.

The Nazis' position there had been made untenable by Russian thrusts through the Pripjat marshes on both the north and south outflanking the railroad town and reportedly pressing within twenty miles of Pinsk, capital of the Old Polish province of Polesie.

The nightly communique recorded the Soviet monitor said that Soviet troops in an advance of twenty-eight miles from previously announced positions, had captured Utena in Lithuania, placing them at that point within 175 miles of the Baltic Sea port of Memel, which Hitler seized in 1939. This drive cut squarely across the highway running between Kaunas, capital of Lithuania, and Daugavpils in Southern Latvia.

"This Is the Army" Banned in Eire

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—The Warner Brothers film "This Is the Army" has been banned by government censors in Eire, Robert Schless, New York head of the studios' foreign department, announced tonight.

Schless said that the government gave no reason for the action but added that he presumed it was because the film was "too unneutral."

Eisenhower Warns Nation Bitter And Prolonged Battles Are Ahead

ALLIED ADVANCE COMMAND POST, July 10 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the invasion, with a grim air of foreboding, announced tonight a warning today against "any optimism on the part of the Allies, saying long and bitter fighting must be expected right around the European battle perimeter."

Eisenhower said the British and Canadian capture of Caen was tremendously gratifying and that the American attack on the western flank in Normandy was a part of the over-all plan and would continue, but that there was nothing spectacular in the present picture of the future prospects.

Fighting will be of the most vicious character, and there will be heavy losses, he warned.

The general did not rule out the possibility of a crack in German morale somewhere along the line,

DEWEY RELAXES AT HIS FARM

Vermont Senator Strong for Dewey

Austin Confers With Governor

By CHARLES H. PALMER

ALBANY, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey prepared tonight to confer with a Republican congressional delegation from Massachusetts after Senator Warren R. Austin (R-Vt.), ardent advocate of international collaboration to maintain peace, pledged support of the GOP presidential nominee.

Dewey, who had luncheon with Austin, Senator George D. Aiken and Representative Charles A. Plumley, Vermont Republicans, was to meet the Bay state group at dinner.

The eleven-member delegation from Massachusetts is headed by House Minority Leader Joseph R. Martin, Jr., Governor Leverett Saltonstall and Senator Sinclair Weeks, long-time supporter of Wendell L. Willkie.

Vermonters for Dewey

Speaking for the Vermont group, Austin said, "many subjects," including a "general, international organization for security and peace," were discussed with Dewey. The senator added:

"I shall support governor Dewey with enthusiasm, having in view both the domestic and foreign policies of this country as he has expressed it."

Describing the luncheon discussion as covering "those things which we think the people are interested in," the Vermonters said they included:

Questions Discussed

The speeding up of victory, getting American soldiers home and saving as many lives as possible, "arranging conditions in America x x x so that our boys not only find jobs but will be encouraged to enter enterprises of their own," governmental thrift and reconstruction of industry "from the tremendous war development to a peace basis without unnecessary dislocation of the national economy."

Emphasizing that he was speaking only for himself and not for the Vermonters, he said the proposed international organization would take care of political questions and the "necessity of maintaining sanctions of all kinds that appear necessary to prevent and repel military aggression."

But said in a country so completely dominated by Gestapo methods it would be false for the Allies to base any real hopes on any such expectation.

Discussing the German flak-bomb attacks on London, he said the robot was a damnable thing but that it was not particularly effective except for hitting large targets, such as a big city, and that there did not seem to be any indication that it would become more effective in the measurable future.

From the German point of view, he said, it gives them a cheap substitute for an air force, and its inaccuracy makes no difference to them because their bomber raids on England were just as wild.

While the flying bomb is a subject on which military men are not inclined to elaborate at present, he said, present defense methods have been "palely successful."

Berlin Bombed By British in Night Attack

Other Points Hit By Allied Planes

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, Tuesday, July 11 (AP)—RAF night raiders struck Berlin early today, the Nazi radio reported, while other Allied planes swept over Southwestern Germany and the northwestern coast.

First Berlin reports said only that "several nuisance raiders" were over the capital—usually meaning mosquito bombers.

The night attack came after weather had held Allied daylight aerial blows to a minimum with the principal activity shown by Normandy-based planes.

German troops pushed into the woods southeast of Caen by the British-Canadian forces which captured the city were smoked out by rocket-firing typhoons and bomb-carrying Spitfires and Mustangs of the RAF second tactical which set the woods afire and strafed the fleeing Nazis.

This was one of the most important of the day's meager operations by the weather-hampered Allied air force. Despite the adverse conditions fighter bombers pressed their attacks against enemy reinforcements and by early evening the force had flown more than 300 sorties.

No Fighter Opposition

There were no reports of enemy fighter opposition up to late evening. Nearly 150 Typhoons swept the battle zone on army support missions, making successful attacks on two tank concentrations and leaving a German gun site afire.

Allied air forces, ranging the German operations areas in Normandy, have virtually driven the Germans off the roads in the day-time.

Allied fighter-bombers flailed German front positions again today, but pilots flying these fast, hard-hitting planes back of the lines complained of lack of targets.

Reads Almost Deserted

The roads were almost deserted—so relentlessly has been the attack on the enemy's communications—in spite of the enemy's need of men and supplies at the front, the pilots reported.

Weather grounded most of the planes based in Britain today, but the Allies were able to continue operations from their growing Normandy bases, though even these had to fly under ceilings of only 1,000 feet.

The Paris radio declared the northwestern sector of the former French capital was bombed this morning, but there was no confirmation at supreme headquarters.

The Germans have had to pay dearly for the use of roads and rails even by night and night RAF Mosquito and Boston bombers wrecked seventeen trains last night, bringing to sixty the number destroyed in the last four nights.

Southern Democrats On Thin Ice, Says Alabama Governor

MONTCOMERY, Ala., July 10 (AP)—Southern Democrats, many of them booming their own favorite sons for the vice presidential nomination, are "treading on thin ice" in failing to get together on a choice for a nominee, Gov. Chauncey Sparks said today.

The governor also expressed the view that Henry Wallace is "not out of the picture."

"We are treading on thin ice," Sparks asserted, "unless we get together and present a united front we may lose out on our recommendations for a better deal for the South. Tennessee wants Cooper, Texas wants Rayburn or Connally, Missouri wants Truman, Kentucky wants Barkley, and so on."

"They're all good men, but can they win support of other sections? Personally I lean toward Broughton (Gov. J. M. Broughton). But I think Barkley (Sen. Alben Barkley, majority leader) would have a better chance as a matter of political expediency."

Full scale Allied bomber offensives, ground attacks, and blockade actions have shorn the Nazis of war material to the extent that they now have, in use and in reserve, only the equivalent of less than one year's production, the report asserted.

GERMANY'S FLIGHT with advancing enemies on three sides of her is graphically portrayed in the map above. A few months ago the Russian Army was the furthest away from Berlin of any Allied army, now the Red army is the closest, thanks to its magnificent summer offensive.

Hitler Plot Revealed:

Fuehrer Planned Invasion of U. S., J. Carlton Ward Tells Committee

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Hitler in 1940 already had prepared detailed plans for invasion of the United States "after he brought England to her knees," J. Carlton Ward, Jr., president of the Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corporation, told a Senate Military subcommittee today.

Ward testified he was shown the plan "by diplomatic sources" while in Paris before France fell, that he reported to this government and found the State department already had complete information on Hitler's plan.

The manufacturer was head of a mission in France at the time advising on aircraft production.

"After he brought England to her knees," Ward testified, "Hitler had we possessed an adequate army through Mexico with tanks and other armored equipment that we did not have."

Army Officers Seize President Of Colombia during Maneuvers

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA, July 10 (AP)—Vice President Dario Echandia announced tonight that he had assumed the acting presidency of Colombia because a rebellious group of army officers had seized President Alfonso Lopez and several cabinet members while they were attending maneuvers at Pasto, in the southern part of the country.

Dario Echandia said the leader of the army group was Lt. Col. Diego Gil, who had proclaimed himself president, but he called this "an act of individual madness" and declared the majority of the army favored the established government, and had taken no part in the uprising.

He said he was declaring a state of emergency to prevent spread of the rebellion and that he would exercise the functions of president until the situation had been stabilized and Lopez was freed.

Lopez was first elected president in 1934, assuming office Aug. 7 of that year. Less than two months later a plot to overthrow him was discovered and put down at Pasto, the same place he was taken prisoner Monday.

Another conspiracy against him was discovered in 1936. In 1937 he attempted to resign when Congress rejected a government currency stabilization program but was persuaded to complete his term. He went out of office in 1938 but was elected for another four-year term in 1942.

Last November he took a leave of absence to accompany his wife to the United States for an operation. Dario Echandia served as acting president during his absence.

Wallace and FDR Talk about China "And Nothing Else"

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—The political future of Vice President Henry A. Wallace remained as much of an enigma as ever tonight after he conferred with the chief executive for two hours.

Wallace, just back from a trip to China, told reporters that the conference dealt solely with that country.

"Can we take it from that that you mean the 1944 political situation was not mentioned?" a reporter asked.

"That is right," the vice president replied.

"We had a very lengthy and important conference about China. We discussed nothing else."

The situation in China is very grave. By that I mean the military situation, I think there is nothing else to be said."

Punch at Guam Thrown by Yanks

Jap-Held American Island Attacked

By CHARLES McMURTRY

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, July 10 (AP)—With Saipan island securely in American hands, the navy turned its attention to Guam and Rota islands, Saipan's southern neighbors in the Marianas, and shelled and bombed Japanese positions there.

A Pearl Harbor communique today announced that light cruisers and destroyers bombarded Guam over the weekend while carrier planes attacked both Guam and Rota, Sunday.

Jap Positions Damaged

Antiaircraft batteries, coastal guns and ship defense positions were damaged.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz gave no indication whether he planned to seize other islands in the Marianas group or would be content to keep all but Saipan neutralized, as has been done with many once-formidable atolls in the Marshall group.

Japanese bases in the Carolines also have been rendered useless by repeated bombing.

A Japanese defense position and buildings on Guam were damaged in the shelling on Saturday, and several small craft along the beaches were hit.

Military Objectives Hit

The damage to Guam and Rota inflicted by planes of a fast carrier task group Sunday was listed only in general terms. Rockets and bombs struck a number of military objectives on both islands. Antiaircraft fire ranged from moderate to intense.

One carrier plane made a water landing. A destroyer rescued the crew.

Liberators of the Seventh army air force bombed Truk, in the Carolines, Saturday, and marine fighters and divebombers attacked Jaber, Malakal and Wotje in the Marshalls.

Three-Way Squeeze on Germany Shaping Up on Important Fronts

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—Russian thrusts by air and sea and the unrelenting shifting of German troops in Norway and Denmark and the northern end of the eastern front emphasized how the present three-way squeeze on Germany from the west, south and east could become a pressure box with the lid clamped on from the north.

German garrison in Northern Norway—just at the time when they may have been weakened to reinforce Nazi lines in France or Russia—increased Russian air attacks against coastal convoys and towns in the far north. Norwegians in London report.

Air attacks have been made on Vardo, Berlevag, Vadsø, and Kirkenes, the latter the "Scandinavian Gibraltar." Underground reports say Kirkenes was very severely damaged.

The Russians officially had little to say about these attacks, which fainting front, which would, Lee the Germans obviously fear may be the prelude to an invasion, and from the north.

Batter Germans At 3 Points on Normandy Line

Rain-Soaked Mud Impedes Advance

By JAMES M. LONG

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Tuesday, July 11 (AP)—The British and American armies scored hard-won gains of two and one-half to six miles on both ends and in the center of the Normandy battlefront yesterday, slogging through rain-soaked mud and knocking out numerous counterattacking German tanks.

The British second army hammered out and retained advances of better than 4,000 yards on a three-and-one-half-mile front southwest of Caen, where the Orne river, a mile farther on, but less to withstand as the Germans massed powerful opposition in a determined attempt to prevent a break in that natural defensive line, supreme headquarters announced this morning.

British Capture Hill

Slashing past the villages of Eterville and Maltot, the British main body took a hill designated as 112 and held it against two violent counterattacks led by twenty to thirty German tanks.

Other armored counterattacks were broken up a dozen miles to the west, below Tilly, while the Americans on the western anchor of the line knocked out a number of counterattacking tanks and pressed down two miles south of La Haye Du Puits towards Lessay. The Germans were pulling back towards Lessay to escape entrapment in swampy ground dominated by American-captured heights.

Front-line dispatches said the Americans gained up to six miles south of St. Jean De Daye and Carpentier in twenty-four hours of combat and that they were pressing along a twenty-five-mile front behind one of the war's greatest sustained artillery barrages.

Stubbish Pocket Remains

A headquarters communique said that unopposed by passed enemy strong points were cleaned up during the day. One small, stubborn enemy pocket remained at Louvigny, one and one-half miles south of Caen on the west side of the Orne river.

In disclosing that the Americans alone since June 6 had buried more than 8,000 dead Germans and had taken 48,000 prisoners, a spokesman said these figures could not be used to calculate enemy losses because the Germans undoubtedly had buried more than 5,000 of their own dead.

May Stand on Seine

On the British side, supreme headquarters stated, "there is no sign that the enemy has any definite prepared defensive positions short of the Seine river," which about sixty-five miles to the east of Paris, the Orne about sixty miles to the west.

Headquarters suggested that the Germans probably would resort to a town-by-town method of strong-point defenses, and emphasized that despite their reverses the Nazis "have not shown the slightest sign of disorganization nor of any large-scale desertion."

On the contrary, they were hurrying all immediately available reserves into a stubborn attempt to make the Orne river a defensive moat.

The supreme Allied commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, issued a warning against growing optimism in the Allied word, and predicted a long, bitter struggle before final victory in Europe.

German fear of the latter possibility was a factor in Berlin's decision, also reported by a London source today, to withdraw two armies from the Narva-Pskov sector and to abandon Estonia and Latvia to prevent entrapment and to bolster defense in East Prussia.

The overall picture is one of the Germans' limited strength in the north being slowly drained by the pull of active front needs on the east.

Reports reaching a London source with good German underground connections said these islands have not only been taken and firmly held by the Russians but that some of them are large enough to form bases either for blows directly against Helsinki to the north or Tallinn to the south.

Farley and Smith Patch Up Quarrel

Trouble in Texas Is All Clear Now

RICHMOND, Va., July 10 (AP)—What Rixey Smith, secretary to Senator Carter Glass (D-Va.), was quoted as saying in a recent pro-Roosevelt speech here, was the subject today of statements by James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman, and by Smith himself.

Smith was quoted as saying that "renegade Democrats with a hatchet full of carpetbag money hatched up a plot and stole the Texas convention." He was quoted also as blaming the Texas situation on Farley, John Nance Garner, former vice president, and "others."

Farley, in a statement to Powell Glass, general manager of the Lynchburg News and Advance, said:

Statement by Farley

"Over the long distance telephone Rixey Smith denied to me that he had been accurately reported by the Richmond News-Leader and the Associated Press in their accounts of his speech at the formal opening of the committee of one hundred for the re-election of President Roosevelt held in Richmond on June 27. Smith went so far as to say that he did not even use my name in his remarks."

Smith, speaking from Washington over long distance telephone to the Associated Press today, said he had been quoted correctly by the Richmond News-Leader and the Associated Press, confirmed the conversation with Mr. Farley, and issued this statement:

Did Not Name Farley

"An examination of my late Richmond remarks before the committee of one hundred, as carried by the Richmond News-Leader, will disclose that no where did I use the name of Mr. James A. Farley in connection with what I denounced as a diabolical plot to steal the election by perverting the electors, although I did mention Mr. Farley and Mr. Garner both as leaders of the southern revolt against the re-nomination of the president."

"I was delighted to receive from Mr. Farley, for whom I have the greatest admiration and respect, his assurance that he had had nothing more to do with the Texas electoral plot than I had. x x x

"I have examined the News-Leader and Associated Press stories and find them entirely correct in all details. I was not even quoted as having mentioned the plot to divert electors."

Russians Menace Baltic States, Simpson Asserts

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

A dangerous Russian stab into Northeastern Lithuania threatening to cut off all German forces in Latvia and Estonia is admitted in Berlin broadcasts, although otherwise unconfirmed. It lends some credibility to underground reports in London of impending Nazi flight from both Baltic states.

The indicated new Russian puncture of the toppling German front between the Baltic and the Pripet marshes is in the region of Utena. The town lies twenty-five miles or so inside the Polish-Lithuanian border on the Daugavpils (Dvinsk)-Kaunas highway. If it is under Russian attack it means that the last direct communication line has been cut between the Lithuanian capital and the Latvian-Estonian end of the eastern battle front.

Reds Advance in South
Moscow announcements show Russian forces farther south have already surged by Wilno less than fifty miles east of Kaunas, on both sides leaving the important rail hub city itself to mopping-up forces engaged in house-to-house battle with its rearward Nazi garrison.

The Russian break-through at Wilno and in the Utena area seems to doom the foe to surrender of all the Baltic states except the southwest corner of Lithuania within the southward curve of the Nemunas river which flows through both Kaunas and Grodno.

May Fight in Germany
Nazis using the Nemunas river as a water barrier at the north end of the shriveling east front, however, would bring the battle onto German soil for the first time.

Obviously what happens in the next few days on the eastern front must force a critical decision upon the Germans. The Russian steamroller is moving at a pace fraught with appalling disaster possibilities for the Hitlerites if they fail either to stall it or to withdraw speedily enough from the Baltic states to save the twenty-five divisions estimated to be deployed there.

Mother Oyster Started as Boy

Experts Tells You Some Queer Facts

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Virtually every oyster born on the Atlantic seaboard this year will be a male, government scientists predicted today, but that doesn't worry mamma oyster—she used to be a boy herself.

With the spawning season just starting this week in the fabulous oyster colonies of Long Island sound, the Fish and Wildlife Service disclosed experiments which reveal a certain Bohemian giddiness in the bivalves' sex life.

All Start as Males

Each female oyster's progeny—a potential 100,000,000 to 500,000,000 a season—starts life as a male but by the time they are yearlings about nine-tenths of them have changed sex. Some, not content with one transformation, revert to masculinity in later life, but almost all the really old ones are found to have settled down as lady oysters.

Dr. Paul S. Galtsoff, in charge of shellfish investigation for the service, had to dust off his microscope at his Woods Hole, Mass., laboratory to find out what every oyster knows instinctively. Only by a close examination of their cell structure was he able to determine which were males and which females. Then he labeled and reexamined them at intervals to note the sex reversals.

Both Taste the Same

"The average person simply can't tell which is which," said Miss Rachel Carson, aquatic biologist who also is interested in the work. "But it doesn't really make any difference at the dinner table—they both taste fine."

The first move of a new born oyster is to attach itself firmly to a rock or another oyster shell where, barring accidents, it will make its permanent residence. This naturally limits the bivalve's social circle, prompting Miss Carson to observe: "I am afraid the romantic life of the oyster doesn't amount to much."

She added that she didn't see much sense to the oyster's proclivity for changing its gender. "I should think they would just settle down," she said.

The little oysters now being born in Long Island sound and Chesapeake bay will be table size in 1945, another campaign year.

ROME, July 10 (AP)—Increased enemy resistance, marked by desperate counterattacks and heavy use of artillery in forward positions, virtually has called a halt to Allied advances along the bloody 150-mile fighting front in Italy.

The most significant gain carved out in the past twenty-four hours was by American troops who pushed to a point four miles north of the captured stronghold of Volterra near the west coast where they penetrated toward Arno river outposts of the Gothic line.

The loss of Volterra was described officially as a blow to the Ger-man's hopes of holding the Allies indefinitely on the approaches to the Arno river and the so called "Gothic line."

Fifth army headquarters also reported gains of unspecified distances along the Tyrrhenian coast, where American troops were within some ten miles of the big port of Livorno, which was reported in flames from enemy demolitions.

Eight miles inland Yank forces moved slowly toward Pomaia, fourteen miles southeast of Livorno, and further to the east another doughboy column threatened the town of Laetico.

While the jurist examined the book without comment, lawyers produced magazines containing such titles as "I Did It for Love" and "I Married a Fiend." Bromley called them "trashy," but said they had second class mailing privileges.

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—General Charles De Gaulle, head of the French committee, was acclaimed today by enthusiastic New York crowds after arriving from Washington where he said he had "very broad and frank conversations with President Roosevelt."

Cheering men and women met the French leader as he stepped from a plane at La Guardia field. Later at city hall, where he was welcomed officially by Mayor F. H. La Guardia, he was greeted with thunderous applause, followed by spontaneous singing of the Marseillaise and the Star Spangled Banner.

A crowd estimated by the police at 500,000 cheered him again as his party drove up Fifth avenue following the placing of a wreath at the foot of the statue of General Lafayette on Union Square.

"New York is happy to receive you because you are a symbol of Free France today," Mayor La Guardia told De Gaulle. "From the beginning to this minute there has been no relenting on your part. De Gaulle responded in English that "after the comforting talks which I have just had with the president of the United States, the welcome that the city of New York has kindly extended to me makes this a great day in the magnificent history of Franco-American friendship."

AT FOUNTAINS EVERYWHERE

By JOHN F. CHESTER

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—General Charles De Gaulle, head of the French committee, was acclaimed today by enthusiastic New York crowds after arriving from Washington where he said he had "very broad and frank conversations with President Roosevelt."

Cheering men and women met the French leader as he stepped from a plane at La Guardia field. Later at city hall, where he was welcomed officially by Mayor F. H. La Guardia, he was greeted with thunderous applause, followed by spontaneous singing of the Marseillaise and the Star Spangled Banner.

A crowd estimated by the police at 500,000 cheered him again as his party drove up Fifth avenue following the placing of a wreath at the foot of the statue of General Lafayette on Union Square.

"New York is happy to receive you because you are a symbol of Free France today," Mayor La Guardia told De Gaulle. "From the beginning to this minute there has been no relenting on your part. De Gaulle responded in English that "after the comforting talks which I have just had with the president of the United States, the welcome that the city of New York has kindly extended to me makes this a great day in the magnificent history of Franco-American friendship."

At a press conference held in Washington immediately before his departure for New York, De Gaulle said the principal object of his talks

Letters from Ford Truck owners tell how reliable their trucks are on all kinds of jobs—how seldom they need repairs—how little they cost to run and keep up. Limited production of new Ford Trucks has recently been authorized. If your needs are urgent and you can qualify, see your Ford dealer. It will be necessary, of course, to provide ODT certification.

When Buffaloes Stopped the Iron Horse

...TRAVELERS WERE PATIENT

Remembering the hardships of the stagecoach and covered wagon days, travelers once looked upon the new woodburner trains as solid luxury... despite choking smoke, bumpy roadbeds; no electric lights, no berths or dining cars... despite delays of hours on end when great herds of migrating buffaloes marooned them in the middle of an endless prairie.

Today, if the train, plane or bus is late, if reservations are hard to get or we can't squeeze into the dining car, we can still take comfort in the fact that America is moving at a pace that has astounded the world.

When this war is won, the transportation facilities of our country will have hung up an incredible record for efficient movement of fighting men and freight—and civilians, too. Meanwhile, public opinion is agreed that we should not travel unless absolutely necessary and, if we must go, take inconveniences cheerfully and patiently—like good soldiers.

Rain, Which Is Needed, And The Signs of It

IT HAS BEEN the almost inevitable experience of this writer that an editorial observation on the weather usually comes into print with the exact opposite obtaining. So, as we need rain and need it badly, fate will be dared here by making the notation. Indeed, if it doesn't rain pretty soon, farm crops will be dried up and burnt almost beyond resurgence. Victory gardens especially are becoming discouraged.

For the benefit of those who are not conversant with the means of forecasting rain or drought as the experienced farmers, a dip into the Old Farmer's Almanac is of interest. Therein we learn that the common chickweed or stitchwort has a small white flower which, if closed, means that rain is close at hand. Also when the African marigold remains closed after 8 a. m. or 5 p. m. rain may be expected.

Before rain, dogs are apt to be sleepy and drowsy, cats remain indoors devoid of vivacity, frogs croak more than usual, moles throw up more soil, fowls themselves move more than usual in the sand, cocks crow in the evening or other unusual hour, swallows fly near the ground, robins come near the house and sparrows chirp a great deal.

A shower is just around the corner when ants retire into their habitations and bees stay at home. Five or six frogs in a row mean rain, we are told. Mist that hangs on the hills or drags along the woods is a sure sign of rain. If dew is plentiful on the grass after a fair day, tomorrow will be fine, but if not, and there is no wind, rain will follow.

Sky colors are also said to be significant. A red evening protends fair weather—unless spread too far upward from the horizon in which case expect wind or rain or both. A sea-green tinge in rainy weather means rain and a deep blue calls for showers. A pale dim moon means rain, a red moon means wind and a yellow or gold sun with purple streaks at sunset means fair weather.

And going ahead a bit, Mr. Weatherwise, from his observations of these things and others, according to the almanac, believes that the coming winter will certainly be milder than last—and probably than most.

But people hereabouts are more interested in the more immediate prospects. Look about, folks, and see if you can detect signs of rain or fair weather according to these farming standards—and if you can perceive some rain, the more power to you.

Conquest of Saipan A Portentous Event

TO THE AMERICANS who have completed the conquest of Saipan in the Marianas, the island is just another step in the inexorable march on Tokyo. To the Japanese, capture by the Americans is a portentous event. Although Saipan is slightly more than 1,400 miles from Tokyo in American hands it constitutes a direct threat to the war industry of the empire.

The Japanese view of the situation is set forth in a Tokyo dispatch to Berlin and broadcast by the Berlin radio, which, oddly, seemed to have no complications about emphasizing an ally's misgivings.

"Competent Japanese sources are fully conscious of the seriousness of the situation," said the dispatch. "American heavy bombers, especially those of the B-29 type operating from Saipan air bases, would have no difficulty in launching systematic attacks on Tokyo."

"Contrary to their former attacks on Japan from Chinese bases, the American pilots would have the advantage of having to fly over ground only while actually dropping their bombs. The approach and return flights would be made across the sea and thus there would be no danger from Japanese interceptors. It is, moreover, feasible that American bombers attacking Japan proper from the Saipan bases might return to base on Saipan where they could be refueled more easily than in China."

Japanese fear of Superfortress shuttle bombings of Japan fully explains the desperate resistance the Japanese put up on land, on the sea and in the air to hold Saipan. It explains the riskings of Japanese carriers to launch swarms of Japanese planes in the biggest air battles in the Pacific since the beginning of the war. Unfortunately for the Japanese, their defense of Saipan did not even delay the American march on Tokyo.

Fighting in Italy Still in the Cards

WHILE rumors are heard from one point and another of indications that the Nazis will abandon Italy and head for the Alps and beyond to scatter their few remaining divisions among the hard-pressed positions of Inner Europe, the stout resistance in Northern Italy and preparations for utilizing the so-called Gothic line would seem to nullify them. The Nazis will likely continue delaying tactics in Northern Italy for some time.

Abandonment of Italy would have serious implications for the Nazis on grounds other than prestige, of which the Hitler cohorts have little left. It would expose a Balkan flank, now partly laid open, and make more probable a strong Allied thrust into Southern France. The Russians are ready for a drive up the Danube valley when the Allied army pushes across the Adriatic to join the Yugoslav quest.

Cutting off the Balkans would remove from Germany crucial raw commodities and a source of manpower in the satellite nations. Invasion of Southern France would engage more Nazi divisions than those now employed in Italy and would make easier the tasks of the Allies in Northern France and Red armies on the Eastern front. German surrender of Italy will be an act in the drama that presages the final drop of the curtain. Germany can no more defend itself inside the Reich than Japan can inside the Japanese islands.

A New Deal Governor Sticks to a Formula

STICKING to the New Deal formula of hedging a bit when acknowledging something good from the other side, Governor J. Melville Broughton, of North Carolina, says that after the war government should [as the Republicans contend] give to the free enterprise system "every encouragement possible to grow, expand and provide jobs" but the inevitable "but" of course—it should not allow free enterprise to "exploit or to monopolize and the system should be subject to regulation if it does."

It is pertinent in this connection to recall what party took the initiative in breaking up monopoly and of establishing regulatory curbs. Another Roosevelt than the present was known as a trust-buster. The inference given, of course by Governor Broughton is that monopolies will flourish and regulatory devices vanish should Roosevelt be snowed under for a fourth term, which event is a hopeful weather prediction for a good many nowadays. Like a good many other contentions now being made by the New Dealers, this is pretty far-fetched, to say the least.

The real milk in the cocoanut of Governor Broughton's observation, which was given in the University of Chicago's Roundtable broadcast over a national radio network, is the admission that government should give every possible encouragement to the free enterprise system after the war. If so, it will have to give more encouragement than it has in the past decade and more than it appears the New Dealers will be willing to grant.

A Campaign Step Of Importance

AN IMPORTANT AND NECESSARY STEP of the Republican campaign will be directed against government centralization in Washington. It is significant and appropriate, therefore, that Messrs. Dewey and Bricker intend to do some de-emphasizing of Washington's role in the management of the party and of this campaign. It is clear that the Senate-House team which has for so long held a monopoly on party policies and candidates will exercise no such monopoly this year.

Governor Dewey and Governor Bricker have now made clear that the major role in their campaign will be assigned to the twenty-four fellow governors. These are the men who have been closest to the people, who, against the oppressive weight of state and federal patronage built up by the New Deal, have succeeded in returning twenty-six states to Republican control. They have established outstanding administration records. As was demonstrated at Mackinac Island, at Hershey, Pa., and at Chicago, the Republican governors have been a hard-hitting team.

In acting thus early to organize their combined resources for the ticket, Messrs. Dewey and Bricker have taken a step of first importance.

Morgenthau complains he was charged nineteen cents for a sandwich barely worth a dime. Perhaps the extra nine cents was tax.

In one respect, Hitler has proved he is a greater figure than was his idol, Napoleon. Adolf's defeats are on a much grander scale.

It was to be expected but hardly so soon, in Frankfurt, Ind., resides a man named Dewey Bricker.

One Kind of Man, One Kind of Woman

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Some men are interested only in women; and other men pity or despise such men because they live in a world that is narrowed to a single sex. They know nothing of that warm and friendly companionship that links the average man to his fellows and enriches the relationship between man and man. When they talk to men on the street, their eyes follow every woman who passes. They are restless in the company of men but their eyes brighten, their spirits lift, they assume a conquering air when a woman comes along. Then, and then only, is such a man himself that centered, seeking, traitorous self that is interested only in women and never knows the friendship of man.

Sometimes I have wondered what women really think of such men. If they truly understand them, if they know how other men feel about them. They fall in love with them and marry them but do they respect them as they respect the common, ordinary fellows who like to go to tag dinners and grow restless on too steady a fare of female companionship?

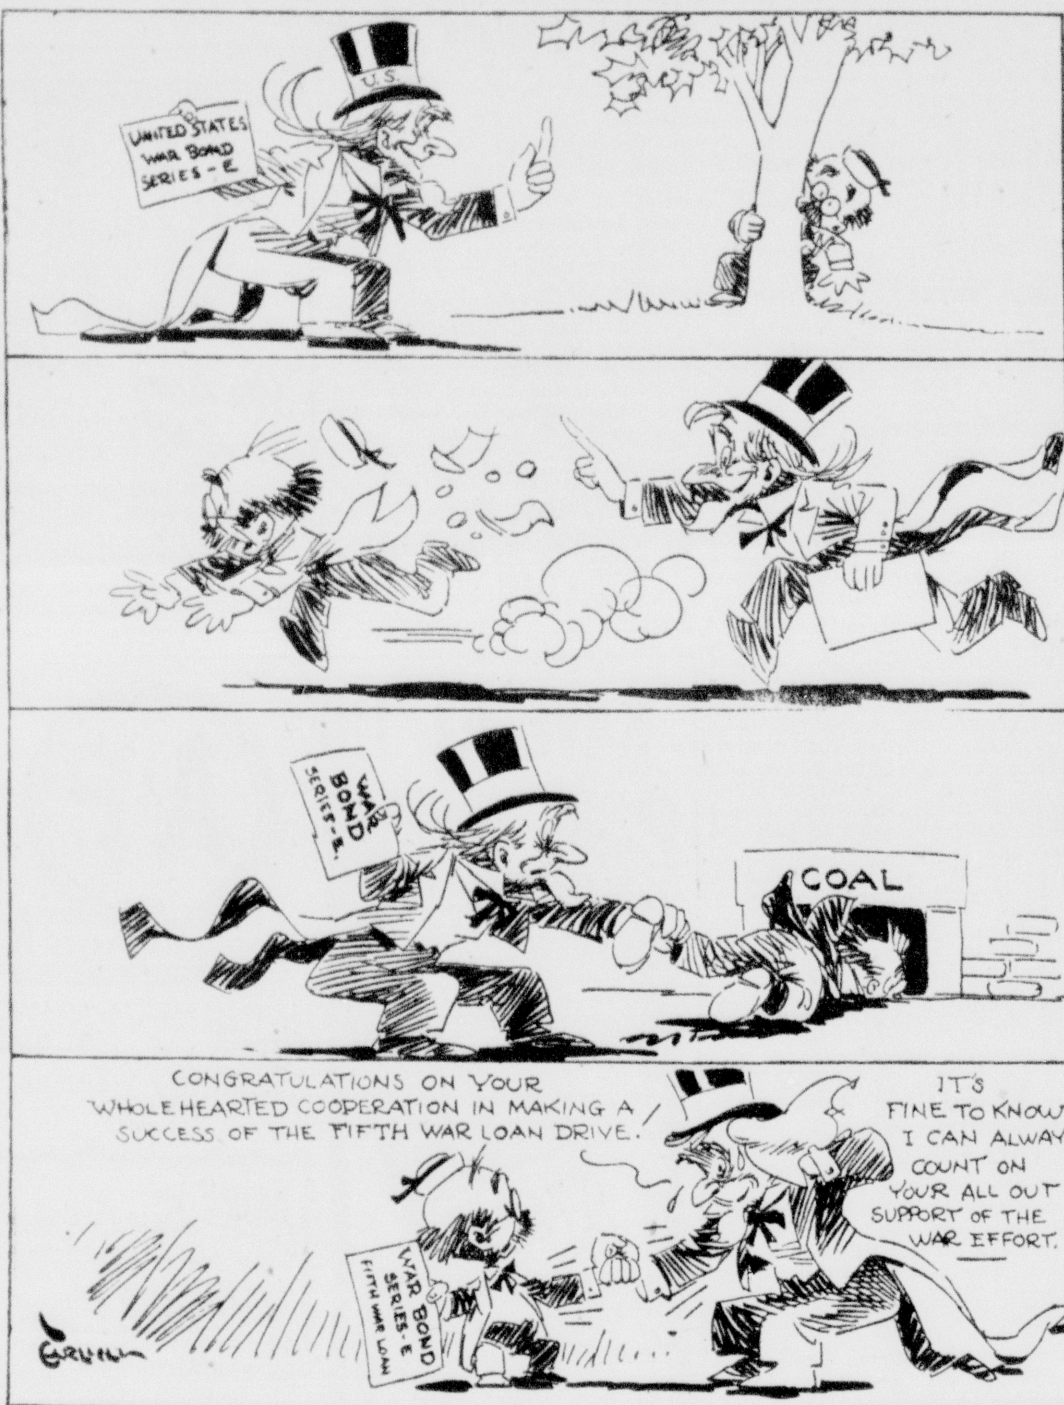

I think they do NOT. I think they understand it is not trivial jealousy that makes men despise the "lady killer" and that they know it is something stronger and healthier than that.

Some women are interested only in men and they live for them alone. They do not know what to say to other women. They, too, are restless when no men are about—and they make no secret of their dislike for women. But when they are with them they come alive. They are gay and flirtatious. They are bright and sweet, excited and stimulated. They twine and envelop and allure; they tell men they wish they were men, too, because women are such weak, vain, untrustworthy creatures. There's no "sex solidarity" to them—and it's little wonder that other women distrust them.

Women understand them and cannot understand why the men are so childish as to be fooled by such women. But the men are charmed and delighted and they praise these women openly to their women friends. They praise them and when other women are silent or smile mysteriously, they think that jealousy is afoot. But that's not true. All women are not jealous cats, but all women understand the woman who is false to her own sex and dangerous to other women.

There is one kind of man and one kind of woman and neither of them knows the meaning of true friendship and until they do learn its meaning—they will both be alone and restless and despised by their sex. So nothing can be done about it—until then.

OUR PATRIOTISM IS OVERWHELMING

CONGRATULATIONS ON YOUR WHOLEHEARTED COOPERATION IN MAKING A SUCCESS OF THE FIFTH WAR LOAN DRIVE.

IT'S FINE TO KNOW I CAN ALWAYS COUNT ON YOUR ALL OUT SUPPORT OF THE WAR EFFORT.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 10—A wave of moral defeatism seems to have gotten started in various quarters influential in world affairs.

The argument runs that the world must resign itself to an era of perpetual conflict and continuous rivalry and that it behooves the strong nations to dominate, or perhaps "protect," the weak by a series of alliances or regional systems.

The idea is not original. Hitler at one time or another has expounded it, too. He was willing to leave this hemisphere to the United States to rule while Germany dominated Europe, Russia controlled her own sphere of influence and Japan controlled the Orient.

Then, in another form, the suggestion bobbed up in a magazine article about a year or so ago purporting to be the Roosevelt-Churchill "blueprint of the world." This also envisaged four big regional systems, but with Britain taking the place of Germany, Europe and China taking the place of Japan in the Far East. Pan-America was to be left to the United States but with the understanding that if Britain couldn't keep the peace in Europe, America would naturally come to her assistance.

Many Proposals Appear Since that time many a proposal for a British-American alliance has appeared and Russia has indicated that she wanted a federation of her own in Eastern Europe. Subsequently Marshal Smuts, of South Africa, in an indiscreet though wholly candid speech in London, urged that Britain create a sphere of influence in Europe and perhaps include postwar Germany within it so as to offset Russia's alleged ambitions in that direction.

Now the sponsors of this type of approach who want to return to "spheres of influence," balances of power and alliances, have let loose their first frontal attack against the idea of a general international organization to preserve peace. In order to divert attention from their own guilt in the past, the exponents of alliances and the balance-of-power school of thought are mistakenly undertaking now to demolish the Woodrow Wilson concept of a world organization of sovereign nations.

Basic Principle Endangered But to break down the Wilson idea of a universal organization, it will doubtless become necessary for these spokesmen of moral defeatism also to break down the concept of human brotherhood and the basic principle of Christianity itself. For they are already depreciating the moral fibre of the world and arguing that morality is far from attainable anyway.

This is the same old defeatism which has been endeavoring through centuries of time to sabotage the application of Christian ethics in world affairs. It is the same unsocial attitude which says, for instance, that because gangsterism has been prevalent in our big cities it is inevitable, and there is little use, therefore, in inquiring into the sociological conditions in our slums which breed criminals. It is the same intolerant, self-centered, if not inhuman doctrine which says the way to run the world is to kill off or intimidate the people you don't like or the people who get in your way.

Fits Tory Desire Regionalism has its most fervent defenders in Britain where the scheme fits in with the Tory desire to preserve British commercial imperialism with the aid of American dollars and occasionally with the aid of American lives.

But the American people, even under any scheme of regional isolation, would not wish to be given the responsibility for policing the Western Hemisphere while at the same time being denied the right to speak plainly and at all times on the materialistic issues which keep European empires intact and the frictions of potential war alive. To be told that the American people must sacrifice their youth every twenty-five years, while having nothing to say in the interim about the evolution of narrow-minded, selfish interests that bring on wars in Europe when it is too late for our influence to be exerted effectively to stop them, is to misunderstand the great cause in which American boys are fighting today.

Armament Rivalry Seen Regional systems with dominance by a single power over each merely means a series of rival armament machines and ultimately more war. The doctrine of moral responsibility for all nations on a basis of sovereign equality is still the world's ideal. No matter how difficult human brotherhood may be to achieve, the urge of mankind is to keep on trying to accomplish it.

Men have never conceded defeat in their battle against disease of the body and they need not concede defeat in the battle against the disease of nations, namely war. To restore the old system wherein the mastery of certain nations over other nations is conceded or sanctioned is to turn the clock back to the years of exploitation and materialism and disregard of the human personality which have brought on the very wars that ravage civilization today.

New Deal Is Seen As the Chief Issue Of the Campaign

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The Democrats have appointed their Resolutions committee. It will meet Monday of next week and duly give out the party platform. Comparison with the Republican platform, already written, might be supposed to create the issues of the campaign. But platform making is largely a perfunctory ritual. As Mr. Dooley put it, the role of the party in power is to chant "We congratulate and commend," while that of the opposition is to intone "We denounce and deplore." Platforms have weight in the campaign mainly in so far as they put in words what is already acceptance speech: "The military conduct of the war is outside this campaign. It is and must remain completely out of politics. General Marshall and Admiral King are doing a superb job. Thank God for both of them."

Foreign Relations No Issue

Conceivably the Democrats, as the party in power, may regard conduct of the war as occasion to congratulate and commend self-approvingly. But the people will take for granted that the war will be conducted by a Republican administration under the same conditions as under the Democratic one. There is no issue about the proposed international organization to prevent future wars. This, all the people want. It is endorsed by the Republican platform, and indorsement by the Democratic platform probably will be much the same term. For leaders of both parties have been co-operating to the end that this shall not become a political issue, that the details and form of organization ultimately arrived at shall be one having the support of both parties. By intention and likelihood, the campaign will not be a debate on foreign relations.

Domestic Issues Mainly

If the proposed international organization, with other aspects of the peace-making, and also the military conduct of the war — if these are not to be issues, it would seem to remove from the campaign a factor which, a little while ago, was expected to have predominant weight. That we should not change presidents in the middle of the war nor during the approach to the peace-making, has been supposed to be an argument strongly favoring President Roosevelt. But it seems likely now that the campaign will be fought on domestic issues, mainly or wholly.

Among domestic issues, there is one that was most in the minds of the delegates to the Republican national convention. In the speeches, the one accusation against the Roosevelt administration that was most frequently emphasized, and that got the largest applause, was "bureaucracy"—the extension of federal regulation of citizens, the intrusion of federal power into the states and local governments. The nomination of Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, for vice-president was largely because he has stressed this issue in speeches throughout the country, and because he is expected to stress it in the campaign.

Price Control Is Cited

On this issue, the Democrats in their platform and otherwise can say that many of the extensions of regulation of citizens have been a necessity of war—among others, price control. It is true that price control, while thought by many to be unnecessarily onerous, is also approved by much of the consuming part of the public, who think of themselves as buyers, protected against price rises. But to such a Democratic defense there is a Republican rebuttal. Bureaucracy, extension of federal control, did not begin with the war. Regulation of what farmers could grow and sell began in the early years of the Roosevelt administration, and so did other forms of regulation.

Issues, and arguments on issues, will weigh in the campaign. But what will count most in November will be a feeling on the part of voters, favorable or unfavorable, and in most cases already crystallized, about the whole course of the Roosevelt administration during its twelve years of power.

Dewey's Precision Mind Is Rated as A Splendid Asset

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL

The word that best described Governor Dewey to me is sure-footed. If he were a prize fighter, you would say he would never be caught off balance.

I was on the platform within a few feet as he stepped forward to accept the nomination. It was the big moment of his life. Yet the slowness with which he raised his hand and turned full circle to greet those on every side gave the impression of power in reserve. There was nothing cheap or artificial about it.

His speech was splendidly spoken. Although he had a manuscript, it was hard to see that he followed the paper. It was plain that he had written the speech himself and knew every word in it.

He did not muffle a syllable. Dewey knows the value of words and how to give those values to his listeners. As one who admires good workmanship, whether it is laying bricks, or making a blackberry pie, or delivering a speech, I like to see a man who respects his audience enough to give them a bang-up job—as much so as a great violinist on the stage.

Precision Tool Mind

If Dewey were a chess-player, I would compare him with Capablanca the great Cuban, whose machine-like mind moved so precisely to checkmate that the spectator was almost unaware that a great effort was being made.

Dewey may not have the emotional quality to "lift" an audience like Patrick Henry, or Bob Ingersoll or Jim Reed, of Missouri. He is more like Newton D. Baker. He is not a dag-waver, or wise-cracker. Yet if you had a terribly important case in court that had to be painstakingly prepared and ably presented against stiff opposition you would feel, if Dewey were your lawyer, that nothing would be overlooked or neglected, and that the jury would not be left to guess what you wanted them to know. While a clear talker, he is primarily an and doer. I do not fully agree with lines:

"For forms of government are fools contest
What's best administered best."

Priceless Ingredient

Yet good administration is a priceless ingredient in government. Slipslop administration has cost countless billions. Dewey, for example, put a man in the fifteen-billion-dollar paper industry who had never before, as happened in 1933, not say that "boondoggling" word. He is not a dogger. He would restore a sensible cabinet government, everything pyramided up, well-kept desk. Nor would he place the nation's wealth and power because he loves to play Claus. Dewey was a poor never found the dollar sign. If elected, he will be the man by twenty days to become president. But that is due to inauguration day up from January 20. However, the "Fathers" who wrote the constitution of the United States, Dewey's age or less, Madison 36 and Hamilton 30.

Mr. Roosevelt, on the other hand, to take the oath since James anan which was before man side of Illinois had heard Lincoln.

1st in a series of ads on post-war opportunities

The question of post-war jobs—especially for returning veterans—is a big one and a live one. It will get more so as the war comes nearer its end.

Our own job security plan for Esso Marketers' employees now in uniform went into operation the day after Pearl Harbor. It has worked so well for so long that we want to pass our experience along.

In general, it is based on the idea that we are saving his place for our fighting man while he's away, whether he volunteered, was drafted, or was called up as a reservist. Chief features of the plan are these . . .

1. Each employee who has been with us a year or longer is given two months' salary as he enters the armed forces.

2. His dependents receive monthly payments from the company while he is away up to the amount of his former company pay.

3. Each employee has been assured by letter from our company president that his old job—or another as good or better—will be waiting for him. Experience gained in the Armed Forces may result in his immediate advancement.

4. His rights in company retirement and benefit plans are protected while he is away.

DETAILS of the plan have been put into a booklet which we shall be glad to send you.*

Soon we will announce in this newspaper further plans for making some good new jobs in the oil business after the war.

As we see it today, next to winning the war itself, nothing is more important than the matter of post-war jobs.

For booklet please address Mr. E. S. Dicks, Division Manager Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, St. Paul Place & Franklin Street, Baltimore 3, Maryland.

Assorted Favorites Reach Peaks For 7 Years in an Active Market

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Assorted favorites reached 7-year peaks with gains of fractions to a point or more in today's stock market, but enough selling cropped up to stall many leaders.

Highest prices were registered in afternoon. These were substantially reduced or cancelled in most cases at the close. Low-quoted issues, such as Commonwealth & Southern, unchanged at $1, came out of blocks of 1,000 to 34,000 shares and helped keep volume at a relatively large figure.

Transfers totalled 1,836,890 shares compared with 1,277,430 Friday. Coca-Cola jumped 8 1/2 points to 44 1/2 as soft drinks demand expanded with the hot weather. Braniff Airlines, American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines were in front in the range of estimates of a big increase in passenger miles flown in the first half of 1944. Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck advanced with mounting retail spending given the credit.

Modest improvement was retained by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Omnibus, Southern Railway, Western Union "A", United Aircraft, Standard Oil (N.J.), Robert Gair and Sparks Withington. Losers included Willys-Overland, Great Northern, N. Y. Central, U. S. Rubber, North American, Westinghouse, Chemical and Texas Co.

Higher in the Curb were American Gas, National Union Radio, St. Regis paper, Pantepec and Carrier Corp. Easier were Barium Steel, Cities Service and Glen Alden Coal. Turnover here was 524,670 shares versus 421,350 in the preceding full session.

The bond market negotiated a modest advance under a light rally in medium priced rails and sustained demand for investment issues. Sales of $8,593,700 was in line with the quiet sessions of last week and compared with $8,569,500 last Friday. U. S. governments were neglected.

Double Ring Ceremony Is Solemnized at Home of Bride's Parents

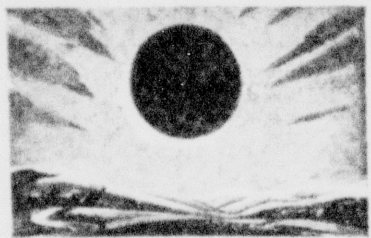

Miss Anna Elaine Ort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ort, Midland, became the bride of James C. McDermott, son of Dr. and Mrs. Michael J. McDermott, Baltimore, formerly of Midland, July 9.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the garden at the home of the bride's parents, before an improvised altar, banked with an improvised altar, banked with a basket of white gladioli, with the Miss Edna Haller, Washington, D. C. Rev. J. Lawrence Kilgenny, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, officiating.

Mrs. Paul Gipe, Bel Air, was the matron of honor and Miss Edna McDermott, Baltimore, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Dorothea Green, Lonaconing, were the bridesmaids; Jacqueline Green, also of Lonaconing, was the little flower-girl.

Joseph McDermott, Baltimore, served as his brother's best man, and Frank C. Ort, uncle of the bride, and Marsh D. Steiding, Midland, were the ushers.

During the ceremony Miss Margaret Jones of Frostburg sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by an improvised altar, banked with a basket of white gladioli, with the Miss Edna Haller, Washington, D. C. Rev. J. Lawrence Kilgenny, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, officiating.

wedding march, as well as several other appropriate pieces.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white silk marquisette, fashioned with a fitted bodice, trimmed with tiny matching buttons, sweetheart neckline, with Chantille lace collar, long fitted sleeves, taping to a point on the hand, a full circular skirt sweeping into a long train and trimmed with a panel of Chantille lace extending from the neckline the length of the train. Her fingertip length veil of tulle was held by a coronet of tulle and pearls.

She carried a linen and Brussels lace handkerchief, brought by her aunt, Miss Anna Ort of Wilkesburg, Pa., from Brussels, Belgium.

A shower bouquet of white roses and baby's breath completed her costume.

The attendants' gowns were all fashioned on lines similar to the bride's, and all wore heart shaped hats matching their gowns, and carried arm bouquets of summer flowers.

The matron of honor was attired in a light blue tulle; Miss McDermott wore an orchid costume and Miss Green one of yellow.

The flowergirl wore a long pale pink dress and carried a pink basket of pink rose petals.

Mrs. Ort chose a blue and white silk jersey with white accessories for her daughter's wedding with which she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. McDermott's costume was of navy blue with matching accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Central high school, Lonaconing and Western Maryland college, Westminster, class of 1944, where she majored in Home Economics, was class president; president of Phi Beta Kappa sorority and voted one of the ten outstanding members of the graduating class for scholastic standing.

The bridegroom attended LaSalle high school, this city, and Loyola college, Baltimore. He is employed as a foreman at the Bethlehem ship yards.

Mr. and Mrs. Ort entertained with a wedding reception in honor of their daughter and her bridal party following the ceremony in their home, which was elaborately decorated with bouquets of assorted flowers. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations of the refreshment table, which was centered with a large three tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and decorated in white and silver. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Edward Ryan, Mrs. Harry Shupe, Mrs. Foster Reid, Mrs. Benjamin Thomas, Miss Margaret Price, all of Frostburg, Mrs. Earl Steiding, Midland and Miss Virginia Ort and Miss Jane Ort, LaVale.

Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to Atlantic City, N. J., and the bride's traveling costume was a brown and white paper taffeta with which she wore white accessories. The couple will reside in Baltimore.

Out of town guests attending the ceremony were Miss Anna Ort, Wilkesburg, Pa.; Mrs. Clarence Ort, LaVale; Mrs. Cecil Bush, Jay Bush, Baltimore; Mrs. Cecil Small, Cumberland and Lt. Charles Guber, Texas.

William H.

born at Allamont Jan. 6, 1886. He was a member of St. Peter's Catholic church and the Holy Name society. He was a former employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and the Wolf Den Coal Company at Bhalmar.

He was married to Miss Ellen Agnes Lannon Connor. Surviving are one daughter and one son, Miss Julia Rowan and Pete J. Rowan, both of Oakland; also five grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Josephine McClain, Cumberland, and Mrs. Elizabeth Casey, Baltimore.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday morning, at 9:30, from St. Peter's Catholic church. The requiem high mass will be in charge of the Rev. Francis Driscoll, pastor. Interment will be in the Oakland Catholic cemetery.

Wins Air Medal

The Air Medal has been awarded to First Lt. Foster Falkenstein, 28, of Washington, D. C., former resident of Mt. Lake Park, for meritorious achievement while participating in numerous bombing attacks on military and industrial targets in Germany and Nazi held countries, according to an announcement by the commander of an Eighth air force base in England. Lt. Falkenstein is the pilot of a Flying Fortress.

He is the son of Mrs. A. Falkenstein, formerly of the Park, now residing in Ingleside, Cal. His wife, Mrs. Katherine H. Falkenstein, lives at Hagerstown. Prior to entering the AAF in January, 1943, he was a salesman. He is a graduate of Oakland high school and Strayer's business college in Washington, D. C.

Receives Two Awards

Pfc. Dawson Sisler has been awarded the Purple Heart and also the Oak Leaf Cluster for his activities in the Mediterranean theater, it has been learned from relatives at Sang Run.

The awards are being forwarded to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Sisler, at Sang Run.

Pfc. Sisler also has the European campaign ribbon and combat infantryman's badge. He has been overseas since October, 1943, having been at the Anzio beachhead, in Italy, until recently.

Top Soil Damaged

Not all the damage to farms, resulting from the recent tornado and storm, was done by wind, according to the supervisors of the Garrett Soil Conservation district.

Practically the entire northern end of the county had a heavy rainfall, at the time of the tornado, near Oakland. The damage by run-off of the rainfall was not spectacular, it was stated. Few large gullies were cut in the hillsides, but many tons of good topsoil were washed from corn, potato and grain fields. Most of the damage was done by sheet and rill erosion; a little soil washed from all parts of the field and rills from two to five inches cut, where the water accumulated to flow over a cultivated field.

In many instances the first cultivation following the storm filled and smoothed the rills so that fields now look much the same as before, but farmers know that the soil removed is gone forever, according to William Nace, soil conservationist. Supervisors also pointed out that large quantities of lime and fertilizer were washed away with the soil.

Will Repair Courts

Members of the new Mt. Lake Park Tennis club met last week at the Mt. Lake hotel and elected officers and formed a committee to take charge of and repair the abandoned tennis courts.

J. P. Beacon, Fairmont, was named president; P. C. Wright, Jr., Washington, and G. Deacon, Clarksburg, W. Va., were elected vice-presidents; Mrs. J. A. Holloway, Wheeling, treasurer and Mrs. June D. Grimes, Mt. Lake Park, secretary. The board of directors includes Congressman Jennings Randolph, Elkins, W. Va.; A. D. Naylor, Oakland; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Oakland; A. Taylor, Cincinnati and Mayor H. L. Bittner, of the Park.

Work on the courts is under way and will be completed in two weeks. All five courts are being repaired, grass cut, club hose repaired and the grounds renewed.

Contributions for the project were given last year by an organization named "The Mountain Lakers", and also from new members of the tennis club. The cost for the new undertaking, it estimated, will be $300. The three tournament courts will be used by adults while the other two will be reserved for children. An informal tournament is being planned for Labor day. This is the site of the Western Maryland championships which were held for so many years until postponed by the war. There is no fee for the use of the courts.

Find Purse After Fire

Her automobile catching fire and losing her pocketbook, containing considerable cash and valuables, were two misfortunes which overtook Mrs. J. H. McAfee, Pittsburgh, while driving to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brennan, who have a cottage near Deep Creek lake, on Glendale road.

However all is well that ends well. The fire was quickly extinguished by nearby residents and later, on reaching the Brennan home and finding the pocketbook missing, she returned and learned it had been picked up by Sidney Lewis, who lives near McComb Beach.

Band President Resigns

Lloyd C. Liller, president of the Oakland band, which is under the sponsorship of the Oakland Fire department, has resigned the presidency of the organization. A meeting of band committee members are to meet Tuesday evening to select a successor.

The Oakland band gave the fourth of a series of summer concerts last evening under the direction of H. S. Mickey. The band has forty members, all but one under 17 years of age.

Southworth Picks Bucky Walters as Starting Pitcher

Borowy Is Likely To Hurl Americans in All- Star Game

By ORLO ROBERTSON

PITTSBURGH, July 10 (AP)—Upon powerful right arm of Bucky Walters, will be placed the responsibility of breaking the American monopoly on the Major League All-Star baseball game which will be played for the twelfth time tomorrow night under the auspices of Forbes Field.

Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals, manager of the National League, was not hesitant today in naming the veteran, who has won 20 and lost three this season as starting pitcher. However, Joe McCarthy, the Yankee manager, head of the American League, is expected to name the junior circuit's ninth and fourth straight, said he would name his starting hurler tomorrow. Neither manager will arrive until a few hours before the game.

Borowy May Get Call
Baseball experts, however, expect McCarthy to call on his own pitcher, slim right hander, who is pacing the Yankee mound with eleven victories and four losses.

Borowy has not hurled since blanking the Cleveland Indians on four hits last Thursday. He appears to be the logical choice for the seventh time. Borowy's Tex Hughson, who served in relief roles both last Sunday and Sunday, and Detroit's Hal Newhouse, who last Saturday hung up his tenth victory as compared to Hughson's 14-3 record.

Hughson and Newhouse are expected to get a chance at one of the three-inning stretches with Newsum of the Athletics, Leonard of the Senators and Muncie of the most likely candidates for relief roles.

Up Sewell, blooper ball hurler of the Red Sox, and either Nate Burleson, Al Javery or Jim Tobin. The Braves figures to follow the Cardinals on the mound for the twelfth time.

Four players from each team in the starting lineups hit over .300, the betting center of the game was a toss-up at 11-10 and take your pick. A capacity crowd of between 35,000 and 40,000 is expected to pour close to $100,000 into the major leagues' bat and ball.

The National League lost two stars within the last two days. Max Lanier, southpaw ace of the Cardinals, turned up with a sore arm and Eddie Miller, fiery Cincinnati shortstop, reported to Southworth that he would be unable to play because of a sore shoulder.

An injury was being made to get Bill Werber, the Giants' right-hander, to replace Lanier. The loss of the Cardinal southpaw left Southworth with only one pitcher—Ken Raffensberger of the Phillies.

Hemley May Catch
McCarthy also said he would not rely on his starting catcher until tomorrow but if Rollie Hemley, New York receiver, is in he is expected to get the call.

Washington's Rick Ferrell, only member of the squad to play in the All-Star game, and Philadelphia's Frankie Hayes, who was Walters pitching, the American League will start Thurman BEGUN as an experiment, the All-Star baseball game goes into its twelfth renewal at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, tonight providing a mid-season highlight which is expected to draw another capacity crowd.

To Arch Ward, energetic and imaginative sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, goes the honor of having started the All-Star game. He having sold the idea to the major magazines and Judge K. M. Landis in 1933 as a part of the sports program for the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition.

The first game, naturally, was played in the Windy City that year with the nation's baseball fans picking the players and then giving the managers a little leeway in adding a player or using the players as they desired.

Tucker, White Sox, in center field; Stan Spence, Senators, in right and Bob Johnson, Red Sox, in left. In the infield will be George McQuinn of the Browns at first, Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox at second, Vernon Stephens of the Browns at shortstop and Ken Keltner of the Indians on third.

Should the National League start a southpaw, Pete Fox of Boston would replace Spence and Rudy York of Detroit would take over first.

Southworth named only two alternatives. He said he hadn't decided whether Walker Cooper of his own Cards or Cincinnati's Ray Mueller, who has caught 137 straight games for a National League record, would do the receiving but that Mueller probably would get the call. At third it'll be either Pittsburgh's plan discarded

This plan was discarded in 1935, however, and the sixteen managers have selected the players since. The eight managers from each league send their All-Star selections to the respective league heads and the teams are then picked from the players getting the most votes.

There has been some criticism voiced as to the selection of the players and especially some criticism leveled at Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees, who had had the honor of managing the American leaguers six times since that job has been given to the pennant-winning club's bench boss. McCarthy has been charged with favoring the Yanks, with starting too many of his players.

Brooklyn Only Non-Hot
While the "dream game" has lost some of its attraction because of the fans' non-participation in picking the players and because the big names of baseball are gone, the encounter still carries enough interest to give the season a lift and to attract a big house.

With the Pittsburgh game this year, Brooklyn remains as the only other major league city which has not staged the game. It was awarded to Brooklyn in 1942 but since the proceeds went to war organizations, the Brooklyn management decided to let the game go to New York's Polo Grounds, where a bigger crowd could be accommodated.

In 1942 one extra all-star game was played, the winner of the All-Star game playing a picked squad of servicemen headed by Bobby Feller, Cleveland's fireball ace, now in the Navy.

Hubbell Big Hero
Although the American league has had a decided superiority in the results, winning eight to three, limit is fourteen with exceptions made for twenty-one each by the Cards and Browns and every night action in the nation's capital.

ABC Expects Big Bowling Increase After the War

Branch Office Will Be Opened on Broadway on August 1

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Pinch-Hitting for Whitney Martin)

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress is looking for a big increase in strikes—the 10-pin variety—after the war.

And E. H. Baumgartner, secretary of the forty-nine-year-old organization, expects the loudest bowling boom in the east, where there are lots of folks but comparatively little maple mauling.

To handle the predicted boom the ABC will set up its first branch office Aug. 1 right on Broadway with general Charlie Vance, national field representative, in charge. William M. Brimer, Pennsylvania, heads the eastern field crew.

As long as the oldest bowling addict can remember, the only ABC office has been in Milwaukee. The main office stays there, but the new branch will speed league sanctioning, alley certification and other bowling business for sixteen states, the District of Columbia, Ontario and Quebec.

East Is Far Behind
With the exception of a few cities in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania which rank with the country's leaders, the East is far behind in the matter of sanctioned teams and leagues. Population of the sixteen states and D. C. totals 51,897,954 or five-thirteenths of the nation, but the area has only 44,749 of the country's 195,000 sanctioned teams.

New York state has 23,750 sanctioned teams, one to each 567 residents, while the sixteen-state area averages only one team for each 1,159 citizens. That's a far cry from Michigan, where there's a five-man team for every 217 men, women and children; Illinois, where the ratio is one team to each 285 residents, and Ohio where every 294 citizens contribute a team.

Eliminate women and children from the Midwest stronghold figures, and you'll find five of each eighty adult males are sanctioned bowlers.

Of the sixteen eastern states, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and South Carolina have no sanctioned teams. Maine has only six. District of Columbia four, Maryland eighteen, Connecticut nineteen, Georgia twenty-two, Vermont twenty-six, Virginia thirty-two, North Carolina thirty-six, and Massachusetts forty-four. Others in the eastern sector do a bit better. Florida has 429 approved teams, Delaware 595, New Jersey 846, Pennsylvania 11,636 and New York 23,750.

The "Happy Hunting Grounds" for the ABC will be in the ten states and District of Columbia which have a total of 217 sanctioned teams. Such Midwest cities—not states—as Dayton, Toledo, Milwaukee

Daily Double Pays $3,663.80 at Jamacia

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—A daily double payoff of $3,663.80 for $2—largest of the New York season—thrilled holders of twenty-three tickets at Jamacia today.

The double was composed of Toy Bomb, Maine Chance Farm two-year-old making his debut and paying $131 for $2, and Mrs. C. G. Whitney's Flying Son, a $74.70 for $2 choice.

The payoff was close to the New York record of $3,888 returned by Markobob and Spirit at Aqueduct, Sept. 3, 1943.

See Big Increase
Baumgartner says the war will bring a big increase in bowling, for our boys are introducing the game everywhere.

There are ninety-seven service leagues at present, he said, and we'll find 'em in such places as the Canal Zone, Alaska, Trinidad, Nova Scotia and the Pacific. Those kids will want to bowl when they come back, and we're going to see that approved establishments are waiting for them.

There'll be a lot of postwar changes in the game, too, making it more interesting for the spectators. We predict overhead electrically-operated scoreboards for all to see, automatic pin-setting, ample and comfortable seating facilities, air-conditioned year-round establishments, and more bowling than anyone ever thought possible. Why, we're just scratching the surface, but this new Broadway branch office will help us dig a bit deeper, especially in the East.

SOFTBALL GAMES
ARE POSTPONED
Victory League softball games scheduled for late this week at the North End playgrounds have been cancelled because of the North End playground bazaar which is to be held this week. Games scheduled were Iron Pigmies vs. Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night and Iron Pigmies vs. Liberty Dairy, Friday night.

In the Rocking Chair league a game scheduled for tonight between the Knights of Columbus and the Knights of Pythias teams also was postponed until next week, due to the absence of players.

Of the sixteen eastern states, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and South Carolina have no sanctioned teams. Maine has only six. ## What? No Telephones!

New Service
WE HAVE today on the waiting list for Maryland about 25,000 applications for home telephone service. Some of these are many months old.

Extension Telephones
SOME, for whom we have moved service, have learned that we could not give them the extension telephone they had at their old address. This is because of the Government order—a fair one under the circumstances—that only one instrument may be connected in a home. The purpose is to spread the use of existing instruments at a time when new ones are not being made for civilian use.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND POTOMAC TELEPHONE COMPANY OF BALTIMORE CITY

THE WAR PRODUCTION BOARD has announced proposals for the manufacture of a limited number of telephones. However, it will be necessary to retrofit and install machinery for this purpose, so it will be quite some time before deliveries of new telephones can start, and shortages of switchboard and outside wire capacity will still remain.

Kelly Plant Will Double Shell Output

Contracts Placed with 56 Companies To Step Up Production

Contracts have been placed with fifty-six companies, including the Kelly-Springfield plant, of this city, to step up the production of 155 millimeter shells, eight-inch and 240 millimeter shells, according to an announcement yesterday by the War department.

Virtually all ammunition loading plants of the Ordnance Department will be expanded, and a similar expansion has been ordered in chemical and explosives plants.

The War department's announcement stated that the immediate increase of several hundred per cent in the army's heavy artillery ammunition program is to meet unprecedented demands from combat zones.

Cost Is $100,000,000
Brig. Gen. R. E. Hardy, chief of the Ordnance Department's ammunition division, said the cost of machine tools, presses and furnaces alone involved in the expansion would reach approximately $100,000,000.

"This program is so important to the continued success of the war effort," Hardy said, "that the War Production Board has granted the highest priority on equipment and material and the War Manpower Commission has granted a similar priority on labor referrals. Sufficient labor must be secured to operate the equipment being installed at its highest rate of capacity in order to meet demands of troops."

According to plant officials, the new contract calls for the doubling of the present capacity of Kelly-Springfield, which has been manufacturing eight-inch shells for the past two years. In fact the Kelly plant is a pioneer in the mass production of this particular type of shell and has been turning them out twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week since that line was opened here.

Kelly officials intimated that increased production under the contract will likely be started here in the fall, provided the essential presses, machine tools and furnaces arrive and are installed by that time. However, they were unable to say just how many additional workers will be needed but hinted that the present force of 350 persons working in three shifts on the shell line would have to be increased along with the doubling of the output.

Proves Effective
The eight-inch shell, used by both the army and navy, has proved especially effective in smashing through fortified Japanese positions, hence the demand for this type of ammunition.

A heat treating plant is now under construction on the Kelly property and when completed will be used in the production of shells. A furnace and other equipment now on order will be installed. The cost of this 30 by 120 foot structure is estimated at $13,000.

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, 35, Fractures Vertebrae at Solomons, Md.

One of Allegheny county's best known public health nurses is hospitalized in Baltimore as the result of an accident in which she suffered a fractured cervical vertebrae last Thursday evening at Solomons, Md.

Word was received yesterday by the local health department that Mrs. Margaret Neumann Wilson, 35, public health nurse for the Barton, Westport and McCool districts for the past two years, has been a patient in Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, since last week following neck injuries suffered when she dived from a boat into shallow water at the Eastern Shore resort.

Mrs. Wilson, it is reported, managed to warn other swimmers not to dive at that spot before she collapsed and was assisted from the water and taken to Baltimore in an ambulance. At Johns Hopkins hospital, Mrs. Wilson is under the care of Dr. George E. Bennett, noted orthopedic surgeon, whom she has assisted in the past at clinics conducted by the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children.

Allegheny Hospital Will Build Nurses Home Here Soon

Federal Agency Approves Project To Accommodate Cadet Nurses

The Federal Works Agency yesterday approved a project for a nurses home and training facilities, including a federal grant of $75,700, for Allegheny hospital, according to word received here from Rep. J. Glenn Beall.

Sister Celeste, superintendent of the hospital, said the building will be erected to provide living and training facilities for cadet nurses of the United States Cadet Nurse Corps who are studying at the hospital's school of nursing.

Accommodates Sixty Nurses

Work on the structure will start in the near future and when completed the building will accommodate sixty nurses as well as provide classroom facilities, laboratories, demonstration rooms and a library. The building will be of barracks-type appearance and will be made of prefabricated frame construction, Sister Celeste said. It will be erected on a foundation to be dug in the rear of the hospital building on Decatur street.

Construction of the one-story building is expected to take from six to eight weeks and is expected to be completed by September 15 when a new class of twenty-five cadet nurses will begin training.

At the present time there are ninety-seven student nurses at the hospital with about eighty-six of them members of the cadet nurse corps.

Facilities Crowded

Present living facilities at the nurses home across the street from the hospital are crowded and Sister Celeste explained that construction of nurses barracks in the rear of the hospital will help alleviate that condition and make it unnecessary for some of the cadets to live at home.

S. Russ Minter, LaVale, is architect for the work. Applicant for the project and grant was Allegheny Hospital, Sisters of Charity, Incorporated, Beall said.
